Questions & Answers

Q: Why did ManTech International establish ManTech CSI?

A: ManTech International has provided cyber services and conducted research and development on cyber-related technology for more than 17 years. Establishing ManTech CSI allows us to leverage this expertise, build on recent acquisitions of cyber security companies like ETG, Inc. and DDK Technologies, in order to focus our resources and advance our cyber security efforts. ManTech CSI research and development efforts will allow us to bring new products to market and allow ManTech to apply the high-caliber skills and extensive field experience of our Subject Matter Experts (SMEs), in order to help our customers achieve dominance in cyber space.

Q: What types of products will ManTech CSI develop?

A: ManTech CSI will launch its most recent product Crowbar on July 9, 2009. Our research and development efforts will ensure a steady pipeline of original and uniquely capable products and game changing cyber solutions that will meet customer demands of today and their 'wish list' of capabilities tomorrow. We are placing a special emphasis on new products that accelerate the investigative and intelligence processes used to solve cyber-focused problems, achieving more accurate results and providing more comprehensive data than other solutions are capable of offering. ManTech CSI also offers a number of highly capable and respected free tools and downloads on our website. You will want to follow what we are doing and check in with our blog, tweets, events and "What's new with ManTech CSI" section to keep track of our latest achievements and tools.

Q: What is the Hexa-Guess challenge?

A: The numbers and letters on our ManTech CSI website homepage for Hexa-Guess represents the language of computers and contains a hidden message. ManTech CSI is a high-end cyber solutions company that attracts professional talent with a passion for solving hard problems and facing down new challenges. Try to solve the code and take the "Hexa-Guess" challenge! The code will change bi-weekly with postings on Twitter and our web page. We would like to talk to you about joining ManTech CSI.
